Mark Godard has over 35 years experience in the forest industry. He has an extensive logging background as a supervisor and has held management positions with British Columbia's largest forest companies. He also spent a year with Malaspina College as an instructor in their forestry program. In 2006, Mark decided to focus on safety and environmental systems in the forest industry using the training acquired during his management positions with MacMillan Bloedel, Weyerhaeuser and Island Timberlands.

Godard Management Consulting was formed in 2006 and offers a range of safety and environmental services, primarily focused on acquiring and maintaining safety and environmental certification.
